

Biography

Christine Connolly

Ms. Connolly is the Head of Standards Projects for CDISC and an advocate for data standardization given its potential to expedite development of preventive approaches, harm reduction strategies, and quality therapies to improve health outcomes. Christine is the CDISC Lead for the Tobacco Implementation Guide (TIG) project responsible for the development of TIG v1.0 standards. She has led initiatives, developed, and implemented data standards for almost fifteen years and has twenty-five years of experience working in global clinical trials in both academic and pharmaceutical settings.