

Irene Abraham, Ph.D., DABT, ERT

Irene has over 10 years of experience as a regulatory toxicologist covering a broad range of substances, products and requirements. She is at JT International SA where she is responsible for the team conducting toxicological risk and product stewardship assessments of reduced risk products, including electronic nicotine delivery systems. She previously worked at Toxicology Excellence for Risk Assessment as a toxicologist supporting work for governments and multiple industries such as consumer products and pharmaceuticals. Irene has a doctorate in Toxicology from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, is a diplomate of the American Board of Toxicology and a European Registered Toxicologist.